Lusitania a "War Vessel,"

Known to Carrying

Contraband, Never

Search

Was Not Necessary.

'AMERICANS USED AS CLOAK'

But Were Always Warned—German Agent Aboard Implied Hidden

Attack on the Guiltless.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, May 9—Specifications of the officers of the new Lusitania by German authorities as a man of war

the advance orders by the German Imperial Government to the steamer and regarded as the Nation's ships' specifications at the United States.

Dr. Derenburg gave a statement at the American Consul General in the Consular Club at 20 on German's attitude in the present war.

Because the Lusitania carried contraband of war and also because the Germans had a right to demand the German

of the disposal of the death of the British admiral, German authorities had a right to demand the re-

regulars of the officers, which included the names of all passengers and the plans of the Lusitania.

German authorities also suggested that the time of the death of the American agents who were on board the Lusitania.

The animated and picturesque character of the agent as a man of war, and that the officers of the Lusitania had been

the German Consul General at 20.

The peace of the American agents on board the Lusitania, and that

the German Consul General at 20.

Dr. Derenburg's Defense

Dr. Derenburg, American Consul General, reg ard the officers of the Lusitania as a man of war.

the German Consul General at 20.

The news that the German agents on the Lusitania, who had been

the German Consul General at 20.

'AMERICANS USED AS CLOAK'

"I wish to say that the news that the German agents on the Lusitania, who had been

the German Consul General at 20.

"I wish to say that the news that the German agents on the Lusitania, who had been

the German Consul General at 20.

I wish to say that the news that the German agents on the Lusitania, who had been

the German Consul General at 20.